THE GREAT STONES WAY

You are invited to attend a meeting to establish a local group of people interested in being involved with this exciting new walking route, which passes through Enford and along the Avon Valley

The Friends of The Ridgeway plan to open a new walking route, The Great Stones Way, later this year. The route is conceived as an extension of the Ridgeway National Trail and will run between Barbury Castle (near Swindon) and Old Sarum, passing the stone circles at Avebury and Stonehenge. It will use existing rights of way but will improve these where necessary. For example, an early priority is to restore the foot-path steps on the bank at the Enford crossroads on the A345.

We intend establishing a group of local supporters who will organise walks along the Great Stones Way and around the area, arrange talks on the many historic features along the route, run social events and generally enjoy each other's company.

The meeting will be in the Enford Village Hall on Saturday 31st March, starting at 2.30pm. Entrance is free and refreshments will be provided. Please come along and find out more!

We are also organising a short walk from Casterley Camp to Enford on the morning of the 31st, with an option of lunch in The Swan before the meeting. If you want more details on this, please contact Ian Ritchie on 01672 520090 or by email at ian.ritchie1@btinternet.com

SUN 3rd JUNE

WHEELBARROW RACE

The event will start around 2pm with a wheelbarrow race from the Red Lion to the Swan. Prizes will also be awarded for the best decorated (as well as the fastest) wheel-barrow – the theme will be a nautical one to mirror the 1000 boat flotilla which will be floating down the Thames on the same day.

BEST GARDEN

Throughout the day, judges will search the village to seek out the most decorative front garden (or front of house if you don't have a front garden).

TEA PARTY & GAMES

Village Hall activities will kick off with a tea party and games for the children.

FANCY DRESS COMPETITION

Wheelbarrow race participants are expected to be dressed accordingly, and there will be another prize for best fancy dress.

HOG ROAST, BAR LIVE MUSIC

In the evening there will be live music on the playing field, a hog roast and bar.

GET INVOLVED!!

Now is the time to start building that wheelbarrow, designing your fancy dress and stitching together that bunting.

ALL SAINTS PRIMARY SCHOOL NETHERAVON NEWS FEBRUARY 2012

If you have green fingers the school would love you to join staff, pupils and parents in a huge planting spree for our new sensory garden. The plants, paid for by a grant from the "There is Space Here" project, have already been ordered and we have a wonderful planting scheme planned by parent Belinda Goldsmith, who is a professional garden designer. So if you don't mind getting your hands dirty, join us on Saturday 3rd March from 10.00 am. We will be offering refreshments to all our volunteers.

The school was gardening again on Saturday, 21st January when an enthusiastic band of parents and pupils braved the elements to sort out the wildlife area. Litter was picked, nettles cleared, a willow bed planted and the pond area cleared. The School is very grateful to everyone who helped.

The school is delighted that we have been successful in our bid for a capital grant of £300,000 to enlarge and refurbish our hall and kitchen. The current Assembly Hall is too small for our growing number of children, so we are all looking forward to the works being completed later in the year.

A huge thank you to Major (Ret'd) Dhanbahadur Chand of the Gurkhas, who used to live in Gumlek, Nepal who joined us to explain the differences between school in Nepal and Netheravon. The children were really interested and asked lots of questions.

The school is again collecting the Sainsbury's Active Kids Vouchers. If you have any to donate, our box will be at the front door. Just ring the bell and post your vouchers. As usual, the children will be celebrating World Book Day on 1st March. Each child will get a £1 book token which they can use towards a book of their choice or exchange for one of eight exclusive, new and completely free books with book shops taking part in the scheme.

ENFORD FOOTBALL CLUB is looking for players

As you may know, Enford Football Club were unable to raise a team for this current season and have temporarily disbanded.

It is a great tragedy, bearing in mind the wonderful new facilities that have been built for football in Enford, following a substantial grant from the Football Foundation and other charitable institutions. The facilities are first class and warrant football being played back at Enford on a regular basis.

There is now no football team at all representing Enford, Netheravon and Upavon, meaning there is no team at all in the Avon Valley between Pewsey and Figcheldean.

Until a few years ago, Enford had two teams, Netheravon had two teams and Upavon had one team. We are hoping to be up and running again next season. We are looking to hear from any players who would be interested in joining a combined Upavon, Netheravon and Enford team for next season to play their home games at Enford. We would also be delighted to hear from any ex-player or indeed anybody who would be interested in applying for the manager's vacancy. Please remember that Enford has achieved the full Charter Standard status and over the years has achieved great success in their league and cup exploits.

Anybody interested, could they please telephone the Chairman, Julian Lee on 07831 225 992 or Ollie Stagg on 07831 392 035

Madagascar

Jane & I set off For Madagascar one chilly November day. On checking in at Heathrow we found we would not be sitting together, but after a few minutes haggling we managed to acquire seats at the rear of the aircraft, not my favourite area. However, we soon realised that the rear is just the place to be on a night flight as there were plenty of empty seats. Our flight was therefore comfortable and trouble free and we arrived in Nairobi eight and a half hours later for refuelling before carrying on to Antananarivo (Tana for short), the capital of Madagascar. We arrived at lunchtime to glorious sunshine and a hot 27 degrees. Our hotel for the night was a mere 10 minutes from the airport so after a quick freshen-up we were whisked off to a wildlife park. This was something of a disappointment because all the animals were in cages, including lemurs which we had travelled so far to see. It was interesting though to see all the different species we would hopefully find in the wild. There were also chameleons in the trees and some unusual birds so not entirely a wasted trip. We ventured out in the evening to a restaurant close by and met some of the people we would be travelling with.

The next morning we set off to the eastern side of the island to our first national park, Andasibe, where we spent three nights in thatched bungalows for two, fairly basic but so exciting to go off to sleep with the loud rainforest noises, frogs and cicadas, ringing in our ears and the call of lemurs as our morning alarm. After a breakfast of bread and jam, and great coffee, we set off on our first trek where we were lucky enough to come across our first lemurs, diademed sifakas. We tracked them through the undergrowth until we were virtually underneath and could clearly see them calling to each other. We also spotted golden bamboo lemurs in the short grass which we were not expecting to find until later in the journey, a Madagascan boa, various chameleons, as well as huge red millipedes almost a foot long and plated lizards. On the final evening we experienced one of the most dramatic thunderstorms ever and huddled in our wet-weather gear under the thatched roof of the open-sided bar watching, mesmerised, almost continuous fork and sheet lightning all around us, interspersed with earsplitting crashes of thunder. Fantastic!!

The nocturnal walks proved interesting and rather entertaining. One of the most memorable moments was when the guide spotted a blue legged chameleon in the undergrowth. As people got closer millions of insects were disturbed and swarmed over us. In the lights of the head torches it was strange to see everyone jumping around waving and swatting, trying to escape them. Further on the guides coated the bark of one of the trees with banana hoping to entice the elusive mouse lemur. There had been only two spotted in the area, and only one recently as the other had produced a baby. Sure enough, after about half an hour, it appeared and we all caught a quick glimpse, and a blurred photo!

Travelling through the centre of the island we were surprised at the amount of deforestation, with virtual desert for miles. Once the forest is cut down on the hills, the wind blows away the soil leaving permanent desolation. We stopped in the mountain villages and were greeted with hordes of children wherever we went. Jane was in her element and had no trouble getting rid of her stash of goodies, in spite of getting swallowed up in the crowds. It is such a poor country yet the kids seemed to be happy and well fed, and very pleased to get their gifts of balloons, pens and notebooks etc.

In the middle of the desert was a large rock formation where we found our next hotel, complete with swimming pool, spa and first class restaurant, just what we needed after days in the rainforest but totally unexpected in such a remote location.

We had our hottest and most strenuous trek to see Madagascar's 'Grand Canyon'. I had been bitten right in the middle of my forehead the night before by a mosquito and asked my room 'mate(?)' if I looked OK to venture out. Jane replied "You look absolutely fine" and a moment later was heard to mutter "But Quasimodo springs to mind!!" Whether it was the effects of the bite that caused me to walk all day with 'jelly legs' I don't know but boy was it hard work! I'd assumed that the canyon was similar to the Grand Canyon in so far as the top of the canyon is on ground level, the bottom of the canyon a mile or so down. This canyon started with a steep climb followed by a long trek down, viewing the canyon and then carrying on down to a wonderful waterfall where we stopped for a refreshing swim. What joy after the hard trek in 38 degree heat!

We stopped another day specifically to see ring-tailed lemurs and were promised an easy walk. Not to be!! The spotters had been out to try and track them down and had found them in a much more difficult location, resulting in us scrabbling down to a dry river bed, squeezing between huge boulders and a long slippery climb up the rocks, but it was worth every step as we were rewarded with a large group, all virtually within touching distance. We sat on the rocks and just watched them until we'd had our fill.

During the days that followed we traveled through Antsirabe, Ambositra and Zombitse and were fortunate to see many species of lemur on our treks- white fronted, crowned, brown, black, red-fronted, ring-tailed, black and white ruffed, mouse, dwarf and the rather upmarket Milne-Edwards sportive lemurs as well as the indri, Verraux's and Coquerels sifaka, which dance along on their hind legs. Most of the animal species in Madagascar are not found anywhere else in the world so a once in a lifetime experience for us.

We drove down to a place called Toliara on the south west coast and ended our journey on the beach at Nosy Ve near Anakeo. The roads were impassable after Toliara so we had to make a one hour speedboat journey to get there. The weather was hot and we arrived at the dock-side to find, not a speedboat but a zebu cart! Zebu are the local oxen. We were loaded 3 or 4 to a cart and taken straight out to sea! Talk about surreal! The water apparently was so shallow it was the only way to get out to water deep enough for the speedboat! And there we clambered from the cart to the boat! Though the weather was hot and sunny the sea was rough and before long we were bouncing happily along, drenched to the skin - until one lady hurt her back and collapsed onto the guy next to her who was busy throwing up over the side! Things were taken at a more sedate pace after that.

It was certainly lovely to get into the bar for a cool drink when we arrived and then to dip in that warm sea. We spent another couple of days in thatched bungalows on the beach with the spiny forest behind us and, as an added bonus, we were visited in the evenings by the nocturnal mouse lemurs, tiny rat sized lemurs with the most beautiful bush baby-type faces! One evening there were no less than three chasing each other around the beams and rafters, even running along the headboard and down into my pyjamas on the bed! Fortunately I wasn't in them at the time! We did go to bed with slight trepidation, wondering whether they would be climbing over us in the night! We needn't have worried - though Jane's bedside table had been ransacked and her underwear had been left on the floor!! Everyone else was very envious the next morning to hear that we had these lovely little creatures sharing our accommodation. Not to everyone's liking though!

Our time in Madagascar quickly came to an end and soon we were winging our way home - to Christmas lights and shopping chaos! What a contrast to what we'd just left behind!!

Tale of a Morris Cowley The Final Part

Last month left me with the collar of my starting handle rattling around inside the engine wondering what to do next.

I found a friendly garage with a pit and in about an hour, drained the oil, took off the sump and removed the collar. However there was no way I could fix it back onto the handle. Undaunted I put the sump back on and poured the oil back in. The problem now was starting the engine, as the battery was not strong enough to turn the starter motor. Filling up with fuel was also tricky as, with the tank under the bonnet, it was madness to fill up without switching the engine off. However, I devised a scheme. Every stop had to be made either on a hill, or where help was at hand for a push start. However, not too many garages had sloping forecourts. So when a petrol station appeared I had to drive round it and look for a slope before risking a stop. This got some funny looks, particularly from those who had no slope and where I could not risk stopping. Having found a slope, I then had to buy a series of cans of petrol and pour them in. As I only had a one gallon can, this took time (my four gallon one was destroyed in the holocaust!). However, I eventually made it and on return, persuaded a friendly ship's engineer to fix the collar back on.

The second one was also in the winter, driving North from London. By the time I reached Newcastle, the road, the A1, was covered in packed snow. Somewhere after Berwick-on-Tweed I came over the crest of a hill to find caravan half off the road with its back end in the ditch, deep in snow. Feeling magnanimous, I stopped and offered to help (I think she was rather attractive!). Having backed the car close to the ditch, I hitched on to the caravan by rope. After much slithering, sliding and achieving nothing, my clutch broke. This was serious as I had no hope of making Port Edgar that night unless I moved now, with the clutch broken in the engaged mode. So, as the car was on a slope, I rolled slowly forward in neutral and almost immediately slammed it into second gear with a nasty scrunch. The engine started and off I sped. Changing gear was easy, as I had now been driving the Morris for two years and it was child's play with or without a clutch. The problem came at traffic lights and other stoppages where, if I stopped on the flat, I could not start, as I had to be rolling to engage gear. Believe it or not, I got there, including driving right through Edinburgh and a few red lights! To be fair, it was Sunday night and Scots did not do much on Sundays in those days – the pubs were shut unless you were a traveller!

The car's last and final adventure was when HMS GLORY had to steam south to Plymouth. The problem was how to get the car south too. After some negotiation, it was agreed I could load it into the hangar of the ship. This went without a hitch and off we steamed. On arrival at Plymouth, to my horror we secured to a buoy in the middle of the harbour – how was I going to get the car ashore? The ship carried a large 32 foot open motor cutter and it occurred to me that if we put some planks across it, the car would sit nicely on top. Those who know about loading boats, 'righting moments; and 'centre of gravities' etc., will know that the higher you put a load, the more a boat will roll, until finally it will roll over. In this case, I think we must have had about two inches left before the boat should have rolled over – we proceeded ashore rolling alarmingly but just made it!

I suppose there were many cars with a history like mine, and although I had a number of other cars, including a 1932 Austin 7, a two litre 1927 Lagonda, a J2 Allard, and an MG TC, none of them quite had the character and determination like the Yellow Morris. It definitely covered a classic chapter in my life! Sadly

Herbs in Cookery, Remedies and Pot-pourri Christina Stapley

A general talk, illustrated with slides, will give a gentle introduction to herb use with snippets of valuable knowledge and inspiration for everyone. It looks at herbs in a busy, everyday life, quickly gathered from your herb plot or tubs and used to enhance the flavours and nutritious goodness of recipes in the kitchen. Simple home remedies in teas, footbaths, oils for external application and use of some essential oils will be explored. Fragrant recipes take little time to make and can transform the atmosphere of a room, several will be recommended.

EVERYONE WELCOME!

Report on February Meeting

A colourful and scented display greeted the Garden Club members when they met for the February meeting last week. The speaker, Peter Biggs of Wanborough Nursery had brought a wonderful selection of shrubs and plants to illustrate his talk..

As he talked the relevant plants were passed round and members were able to smell and have a closer look, very helpful. Everyone came away with ideas about colour, form and siting of plants, food for thought on a bitterly cold and sleety night.

Dear Jane & Friends

Your recent donation – thank you!

I am writing to thank you so much for your recent donation of £140 from your Jumble Sale in Enford.

Thank you also to Carol and friends for all the knitted donations.

At Feed The Children we concentrate aid on the most vulnerable; the children and young people, especially those who are orphaned, abandoned or homeless or with special needs. It seems that wherever there is a difficult situation, it is the children who bear the brunt of poverty and food shortages.

Thanks to you some very vulnerable children now have a fighting chance at growing up and lifting themselves out of poverty and we are grateful for your support.

Yours sincerely

Your sincerely

Patchwork Theatre Company

"TITANIC SINKS TITSWILLY"

Enford Village Hall Sat 6 October 2012

Fresh from Edinburgh Festival

Fringe 2012 Patchwork Theatre Company will be touring and coming to Enford with their new and exciting piece of laugh out loud comedy, 'Titanic Sinks Titswilly'.

An epic story of love, life and loss on board the world famous doomed cruise liner will finally be brought to the stage; well, to the back of Titswilly Village Hall.

Patchwork's latest offering is a fast paced farce in the vein of 'One Man, Two Guv'nors' and 'Noises Off', with this exciting young company's absurd and humorous blend of comedy.

"When a successful theatre director moves to the rural village of Titswilly, she is looking forward to hanging up her script notes in favour of the quiet life. However the local dramatic society, in rehearsal for their production of 'Titanic' has other ideas... This hilarious new play takes a sneak peek at the run up to the opening night of the Titswilly Players most ambitious production yet".

Inspired by their own experiences of village life, Patchwork explore what happens when city collides with country in their latest original comic caper - a light hearted evening of comedy theatre on Saturday 6th October in the Village Hall. More details to follow - but make sure you put the date in your diary!!

ALL SAINTS ENFORD CHURCH ENFORD

From the Rector

The difference between modern spirituality and Christianity

These days it seems that religion is out but spirituality is in. In the last 30 years there has been a huge increase in hunger for some spiritual answers to the big questions of life. But in an increasingly postmodern world, there is deep scepticism among people as to the idea of objective truth.

Instead, there is a new relativism concerning moral standards. There is a new multiculturalism, that encourages people to pick and choose for themselves amongst a variety of ideological options. It is a smorgasbord, and has led us to a frightening lack of discernment to just about everything going, including pantheistic spiritualities, New Age philosophies, eastern mysticism, western European paganism, shamanic medicine, and techniques for achieving cosmic consciousness. All are greeted with indiscriminate acceptance.

In fact, the only thing people seem antagonistic towards is any authority which appears to be external or traditionally based. In other words, religion is on the way out, and spiritualities which appeal to our inner subjective and experiential selves are on the way in.

But for Christians, the true spiritual life is an all-encompassing response to God's love for us, based on what his son Jesus Christ has done for us. It is our response to a God who is both out there, separate from us as our Creator; but who also dwells within us when we allow ourselves to be guided and sustained in a lasting relationship. Biblical spirituality is a lifelong journey of the spirit that begins with the gift of forgiveness and new life in Christ, and progresses through faith and obedience to Christ, until one day we stand before God in heaven. It is NOT a journey towards Christ, but a lifelong journey WITH Christ, indwelling us through the Holy Spirit.

With love and prayers

From the Team Rector Rev. Mark Zammit

New Team Vicar

I am pleased to formally announce the appointment of Reverend Gale Hunt as a new Team Vicar in the Avon River Team. Gale will be licensed on Thursday 1st March, 7.30 p.m. in Netheravon Church, with the service being led by the Right Reverend Nicholas Holtam, Bishop of Salisbury.

Gale joins us from the parish of St. Francis in Salisbury and will be moving in to the Vicarage in Netheravon in February. With Gale's appointment the Ministry Team will be fully staffed for the first time since the Avon River Team was formed in September and we are all looking forward to working with her in the future.

SALISBURY PLAIN TRAINING AREA
NEWS SHEET
March 2012

Defence
Infrastructure
Organisation

TRAINING IN MARCH

Exercise PASHTUN DAWN (12 Mechanised Brigade's operational pre- deployment training) will continue until 11 March. It will take place across the whole Plain and involve some 8000 troops, over 500 armoured vehicles and both fixed wing aircraft and helicopters.

Large convoys will operate on the training area and there may be some disruption to civilian traffic at tank crossings.

During Ex PASHTUN DAWN there will be no public access to Larkhill Artillery Ranges and permissive stone tracks in the Tilshead/Chitterne/Shrewton triangle (Copehill Down area) will be closed in the interest of public safety. Members of the public using Salisbury Plain for recreation are required to keep to the public rights of way.

Military convoys leaving the Plain at the end of the exercise may cause some disruption from late afternoon on Saturday 10 March until Monday 12 March.

From 12 – 23 March normal training will resume as local armoured units from Tidworth, Bulford and Land Warfare Centre, deploy onto SPTA. The Royal Netherlands Marine Corps arrive on 12 March for 10 days of live firing with 120mm mortars, followed at the end of March by 1st Battalion The Royal Irish who will conduct pre-operational training.

Note Vehicle movement may cause delays at tank crossings and drivers should take care when approaching crossings as mud clearance parties and mechanical sweepers will be at work

FIRING NOISE

Live Firing. Firing is closely managed to ensure that legal noise limits are not exceeded and disturbance is minimised. Although some may find the noise intrusive, it is well below legal limits.

Late Firing on Larkhill Ranges: : 1 - 13 inclusive, 15, 20, 22, 27, 28

AS90 Firing from Salisbury Plain East: Nil.

AS90 Firing from Salisbury Plain West & Tilshead, Chitterne, Shrewton Triangle: Nil.

Complaints about Firing Noise should be made to (01980) 620819

ACCESS

Access to Salisbury Plain is regulated by Salisbury Plain Military Lands and Bulford, Larkhill and Imber Range Byelaws. This Newsletter is published up to 6 weeks before the event and urgent training bids may come in subsequently. Always comply with local signs and flags

Access timings can be found on the SPTA Walks Line: (01980) 674 763

Military Flying

Helicopters, Hercules (C130) and fast jets may be active at any time. Fox Covert & Everleigh Dropping Zones will be active throughout.

Complaints about low flying should be made to 0207 218 6020 or e-mail lowflying@mod.uk.

Bulford Ranges. Rights of Way (PROW) through Bulford Ranges are closed when red flags are flying. No firing is planned for 5, 6, 19, 20, 25, 26 February .

Larkhill Ranges. Rights of Way (PROW) through Larkhill Ranges are closed when red flags are flying. No Firing is planned for 17, 18, 31

Note. In the event of range fires access may be denied to some areas due to the risk of unexploded ordnance "cooking off".

Imber. Difficult terrain and unexploded military debris make it hazardous to leave the marked routes. The public are excluded from Imber Ranges at all times, even if flags are not flying. The only exception being when the roads through Imber are opened to the public. It is planned to open roads through Imber as follows:

6 April to 9 April	Easter Bank Holiday
1 June to 5 June	Bank Holiday (NEW DATES).

10th November from 10 am to 12 noon for the Remembrance Day Church Service only.

Notes.

1. Even when the roads are open the village remains out of bounds to the public.
2. These dates may change if operational training needs dictate.

Possible further dates:

From	To	Remarks
4 August	10 August	Possible opening To Be Confirmed (TBC).
St Giles's Day (1st September) is during the next Pre-Afghanistan exercise and available dates will be published when known.
Christmas and New Year Close Down, dates TBC.

Provisional Dates for Major Exercises. During the following major exercises access will be restricted on Larkhill Ranges and in the Chitterne – Shrewton – Tilshead Triangle north of the B390.
